

MAXCases Cares

At MAXCases, we don't just make products for education. We believe in education. We recognize that teachers – and those who support them – are helping create our future by educating our children and youth. And we know that this often isn't easy.

That's why we created the MAXCases Cares Foundation, a 501c charitable organization dedicated to supporting the needs of teachers, classrooms, students, and schools.

Teachers, it's no secret that most of you dip into your own funds to provide your students with essential learning supplies. We're here to help, and we're thrilled to offer the following levels of support.

Product Donations

Now more than ever, learning leverages the digital. And if student devices don't work, students can't learn. We are proud to make protective cases for iPads, Chromebooks, tablets and laptops that keep kids learning in any environment.

When we have extra inventory on hand, we love giving it away to help cash-strapped classrooms, schools and districts protect their devices.
